

INTRODUCTION

What about a NADA Africa.....?

This perennial question, raised many times before, was raised again by Dr. Ken Carter at the inspiring conclusion of the annual NADA Conference, 2003, Washington, D.C.

Sitting next to Dr. Carter and immediately picking up on the mood, Arthur Pinckney responded "Why not?"

We need to do that. With that, the spirit was set, and the seed-idea quickly began to grow.

Fortuitously, Arthur Pinckney's former ADS trainee and co-worker Jane Dele Osawe, 'a Daughter of the soil' of Nigeria, passionately embraced this vision. As the first female member of the House of Assembly in East Senatorial district, she has been undauntingly committed to her village and her country (wo)men). She has guided the birth of NADA Africa with confidence and skill of a master midwife.

Jesse Morgan, specializing in Men's Issues, brought 30 years of experience in working with the United Nations and with the exemplary Lincoln Acupuncture Recovery Centre to the NADA Africa Team.

Originally, five in number, only four ultimately made the trip to Africa. One member of the team, Brother Jamal, was unable to physically accompany the rest of us on our journey.

Brother Jamal, griot/historian - mythologist/Dancing Crane Medicine Man provided invaluable inspiration and support toward the accomplishment of our mission.

Dr. Mike Smith in his unusually selfless and perceptive manner was with us step by step in planning the trip, giving selflessly of his experience in cultivating NADA around the world. Amazingly, from his funds he financed the majority of the budget for our trip. "Oshe, Dr. Smith!"

The people of Nigeria thank you.

The two other financial sponsors were the Community Mental Health Council, (CMHC) - "Oshe!", to Dr. Carl Bell, CEO CMHC; and the Institute for Jewish and Community Research (JCR) - "Oshe!" to Dr. Cary A. Tobin, President

JCR.

We are very grateful and very thankful to you all.
In compiling the following pages, we hope to share with you a flavour of the process and triumph as we experienced it. We pray that you feel introduced to and warming welcomed to a new NADA home.
With unconditional Love, wishing Peace and Prosperity to All.

Vision Statement

Access without barriers for all Africans to Acudetox treatment principles for substance abuse and emotional distress.

Our Mission

To apply and put into practice the Acudetox principles that attracts, empower and retain clients in treatment. To establish a solid network of organizations and individuals throughout Africa that fosters successful client recovery and sense of well being.

Who We Are

NADA stands for the National Acupuncture Detoxification Association and is a catalyst for social development. After NADA comes in and provides training and consultation, the acupuncture treatment programs are run by local agencies. "Nada" in Spanish, means "nothing." It signifies a drug-free, no-nonsense approach. Acupuncture detoxification is inexpensive, drug-free and popular in most cultural circumstances. A clinic can be established in any location where people sit in a group.

What we seek to achieve

Understanding the principles of both Chinese medicine and chemical dependency can lead to significant benefit in recovery from all forms of drug addiction as well as alcoholism and a variety of mental disorders. NADA protocols, especially designed for this type of treatment, have been carefully developed and extensively tested. More than 1,500 clinical sites in the US, Europe, Australia, and the Caribbean currently utilize these protocols, even in settings where threats of violence had previously made it difficult to serve clients. While initially adapted to western attitudes and conditions the NADA method will also be adapted to African, including Nigerian attitudes and conditions. Our best hope for success is unified application and mutual appreciation of diverse treatment approaches.

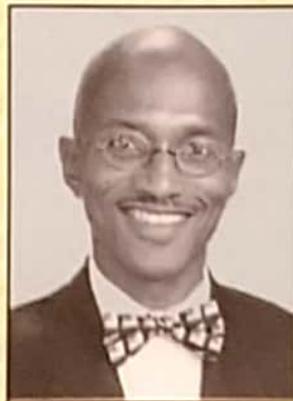

NADA promotes this goal through:

1. Public education about acupuncture as a recovery tool for substance abuse and emotional distress.
2. Training and certification of professionals and caring individuals about use of the techniques.
3. Consultation with local organizations in setting up treatment and training sites.
4. Sharing of NADA approved information with all interested parties.

Training is normally delivered over a full week with two days intensive workshop followed by five days clinical supervision of practice. Trainees must complete a set number of supervised treatments to complete the course.

Brief History of Acudetox

The understanding of how life sustaining energy or "Chi" moves through our bodies can be traced back to ancient Africa. At the foundation of this understanding is the knowledge that everything in the universe is susceptible to balancing forces. The assumption is that illness, disease, emotional distress are evidence of imbalance. Our minds and bodies innately seek balance and naturally include mechanisms that help us heal and move from imbalance to balance. Our ancient African ancestors understood this and developed medical systems that took advantage of and facilitated these natural balancing forces. This knowledge traveled eastward and became the basis of what is now known as acupuncture. Thousands of years later in 1972, a neurosurgeon in Hong Kong, Dr. H. L. When accidentally discovered that acupuncture was very effective in treating withdrawal symptoms associated with opium addiction. His discovery attracted the attention of Dr. Michael Smith and others at Lincoln Hospital in New York City. At the time they operated a community based methadone clinic that was established at the urging of two progressive community groups (the Black Panthers and Young Lords). The idea of using acupuncture was embraced by the clients of the clinic. Over the next few years the use of acupuncture was refined based upon feedback from those receiving the treatment and resulted in the development of the NADA Acudetox Protocol. The NADA Acudetox Protocol is the use of the five ear points in the context of compassionate and nonjudgmental programming that includes the acupuncture, group counseling and education, individual counseling, and support groups.

Objective of the Team's Visit

To introduce and establish NADA Protocol in Nigeria with the possibility that Nigeria will be the Headquarters for NADA Africa.

Preamble

The NADA, USA team reconvened at the conference hall of the hospital to demonstrate acudetox treatment on the staffers that deal with drug patients.

The Medical Director, Dr. I. O. Malomo in his opening remark welcomed the NADA team and members of staff to the impromptu meeting.

He appealed to participants to receive an acupuncture treatment in order to improve their knowledge on Drug Abuse Management.

The CMHC Training Coordinator thanked the Medical Director for accepting their visit to the hospital.

She then enlightened the staff concerned on NADA Acudetox Protocol. They were informed that Acupuncture technique communicates to all parts of one's body (energetic) and is involved in healing and recovery. The ear is a representative of the entire system and as such the protocol was observed in the ear where the needle points were made.

The demonstration was conducted with about 30 participants.

Procedure

- i. Participants sat down.
- ii. Cleaning of both ears in readiness for the needle points
- iii. Making the needle points five (5) points on each ear. When a needle point was being inserted the participant was advised to breath out.
- iv. Participants sit for thirty-five (35) minutes.
- v. Excessive noise was restricted from non-participants and GSM phone were turned off in order to facilitate the atmosphere of mutually respectful quiet.
- vi. After 35 minutes, the needles were carefully removed and disposed of in the "imperulous containers" provided.

Questions from Participants

- i. How will the hospital get the supply for the Acupodox instrument?
- ii. Why are some participants more relaxed than the others? Am I supposed to be relaxed?
- iii. Why are some points more tender than others?
- iv. What will be the effect of the points in the participants?

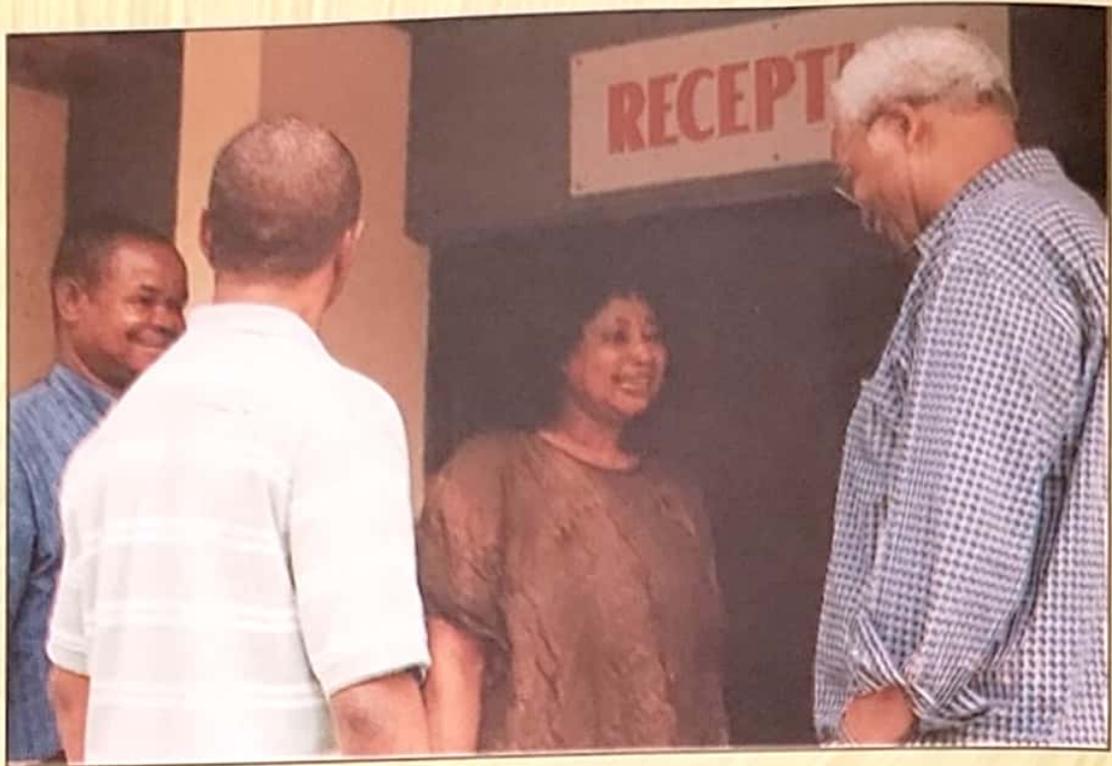

The exercise lasted till 3.00 p.m. on that day - February, 10 2004.

Acupuncture - Detoxification Conference holds in Nigeria

Africa is the cradle of civilisation. This is a well-known universal truth. However Africa has been lagging behind in so many spheres especially, in science and technology. With the gradual migration of the population to Europe and America there has been a steady awareness. Most important has been the role education has played in the life of some Africans. There is no doubt that, colonial masters took most African into captivity. The notion of slave route as propagated today by UNESCO has come to heal the scars of slavery. It is against this background that, some Africans living in Diaspora are interested in tracing their routes. The blacks have suffered, and during their endurance they lose some of their values and initiatives. Nevertheless the era of awareness provoked by peace activist like Martin Luther King break the deadlock and peace equity now reigns rein kindling a new live of hope and reasoning. Our African sisters and brothers living in the Diaspora to day see much interest in telling the true story about Africa.

It is not a surprise to hear that acupuncture started in Africa and is still an African thing but lacked Africans who could do research on it. It is therefore against this backdrop that the town of Lagos will be beaming up with activities brought by some leading African figures living in the Diaspora. Dele Jane Osawe leads the caravan. With rich background in Community Health, she and her team shall be sharing their experiences on Acupuncture and detoxification with some health communities in some states of the Federal Republic of Nigeria. The Focus of the training exercise shall be to drill health personnel on the application of acupuncture to the ear point. The team arrived Nigeria last February 1 and is by now meeting with all stakeholders in the Health domain to explain the raison d'être of their conference. Their activities will extend up to Friday February 20, 2004. Participants are drawn from Africa and other parts of the world with two coming from Cameroon.
